1 Course Description

This course introduces students to the main topic of public opinion and media in the United States. We will learn by reading major research papers and books, as well as writing on this topic. By the end of this course, you will be able to demonstrate knowledge about the measurement of public opinion, identify sources of individual opinions, explain the impact of media on opinions, and understand main cutting-edge findings. You will also increase your ability to analyze quantitative research as it pertains to politics, media, and American democracy.

Because this is a large and heterogenous topic that cross-field, the class will only cover a fraction of the field. As a consequence, the material in this syllabus reflects my research interest: quantitative analysis how politics and media affect public opinion in the United States. This leaves out many interesting and important issues, including qualitative studies of public opinion and topics that are not political in nature. Nonetheless, students who are interested in these other subjects should still find the theoretical material helpful.

2 Course Philosophy

Democratic government presumes that the public will have an important role in guiding the government and its policy. Many theoretical treatments of this relationship question if the public could fill its role, doubting that regular people can make “good” decisions for the public interest. Of the many concerns was whether people had could hold “good” opinion, meaning opinions that were not self-interested, uninformed, or susceptible to manipulation. Such questions naturally attracted the attention of political scientist, sociologists, and scholars of mass communication. Of late, the study of public opinion has been at the center of research in communication, because it focuses on how media messages are presented and used by people to form opinions.

This leads to some interesting issues in American politics and communication. How informed are citizens? How do people formulate their opinions? Where do people learn about politics and policy? How unbiased is public opinion? And so on. In this class, we attack these questions by reading research that tries to measure and analyze people’s answers to questions in experiments and surveys. There are three distinct units. First, we will focus on the definition of opinion and how it is formed. Second, we will examine the relationship between media messages and public opinion. Finally, we will look at some research topics that have captured the imagination of scholars and others.

Be aware that this syllabus does not cover everything in the field. With that in mind I have provided some research papers that are of interest to me and could be useful for you in the class. If you want to talk about these papers – or others – please come see me.

3 Course Requirements

3.1 Overview

There are three requirements for this class: class preparation and participation, weekly memoranda, and a research paper. The weight assigned to these requirements is below.

3.2 Class Preparation and Participation

Attendance and participation are mandatory for this course. It is imperative that you come prepared to discuss all course material each week. Be prepared to answer the following questions for each of the assigned readings:

1. What is the main contribution of the reading to scholarly knowledge?
2. What theoretical tradition is the reading working within or in contrast to?
3. What hypotheses are offered for empirical analysis?
4. What are the data and measures used in the paper? What methodological techniques are used to analyze the data? Are the data and methods appropriate for evaluating the theory and hypothesis?
5. What are the main findings?
6. What are the implications of the theory and results for our understanding of political behavior?
7. What are your criticisms of the research?

Active participation accounts for 25% points towards your final grade. These points are based on my qualitative assessment of how actively you engage the material and class, the quality of that engagement, and your ability to forcibly but respectfully engage classmates.

3.3 Weekly Reaction Memoranda

Every student is required to turn in weekly memoranda that summarize reactions to and reflections on the week’s readings. After they are written, they should be posted online by no later than 10:00 a.m. each Monday. Memoranda should not summarize the readings, but should outline thoughts on the week’s theme and/or specific readings for the week. Students will receive one of three grades—completed, acceptable, or outstanding—on each weekly memoranda. The final grade for the semester will be based on the instructor’s subjective view of how diligently and competently these memoranda were completed. This is worth 25% of your final grade.
3.4 Research Paper

Students are required to write a 17-22 page research paper. You have two options for this paper. First, you can write a literature review. This paper must discuss the scientific literature on a topic on communication and public opinion. Your review must both describe the relevant papers and offer a reasoned criticism. Second, you can write a academic research paper. There are no restrictions regarding theory and methodology, but the paper should try to make an empirical contribution to communication and/or public opinion. Students taking this option may work in pairs if they so wish, keeping in mind that the expectations will be higher. All projects must be approved by the instructor. Students will submit their final paper on Friday, 4:30 p.m., December 4 and present their paper at our final class meeting (December 7). The paper will be worth 40% of the final grade, with the presentation accounting for an additional 10%.

4 Course Policies

4.1 Absences

I expect you to attend every class session. If you must miss this class for some reason, you can receive an excused absence if you contact the instructor in advance. To be absolutely clear - I do not expect to provide any excused absences except in exceptional circumstances.

4.2 Missed Assignments

All assignments are due on the date assigned unless the instructor indicates otherwise. Any assignments that are not turned in on time will lose half a letter grade for each day they are late. Any assignment more than two days late will not be accepted. It is considered bad form to turn in late work in graduate classes, so I encourage you to meet your deadlines.

4.3 Incompletes

There will be no incompletes given in this class except in cases of emergency or where university policy applies to the contrary.

4.4 Cheating and Academic Misconduct

Any student engaging in academic misconduct will receive an F in my course and be reported to the Dean. I will also recommend your expulsion from the graduate program. I suggest that, as a start, you use the following common sense criteria:

- Group work not approved by the instructor constitutes academic fraud.
- Representing anyone else’s written work as your own is plagiarism.
- Representing anyone else’s ideas as your own is academic misconduct.
- Using unauthorized resources on exams or in papers is cheating.
- Turning in work from other classes without permission is academic misconduct.

If you have any questions about what constitutes cheating or academic misconduct, you should examine the university policy and/or ask the instructor prior to turning in any assignment.
4.5 Problems and Emergencies

Anyone who has academic or personal problems is free to see me during office hours or to make appointment. Students that have difficulty making my office hours should inform me immediately. If a student has an emergency - academic or otherwise - s/he can contact me by email. If this attempt is not successful within a reasonable amount of time, it is permissible to call me at home.

4.6 Grading Policies and Standards

Grades on assignments are returned as promptly as possible. There are no guarantees on how quickly graded assignments will be returned. If students receive an assignment back and have questions about the grade, they must wait at least two days until asking the instructor to review the grade. If a student wants a re-grade, s/he must submit a single-spaced, single paragraph note explaining why the original grade is inappropriate. All assignments submitted for a re-grade can go up or down.

5 Textbooks

This course is an intensive learning experience. You will learn primarily by reading and then discussing that material with your instructor and classmates. Accordingly, there is a lot of reading for this course. A great deal of this reading is in seven required books that are available from the University Bookstore. Other readings are available on-line at JSTOR, in the library, or on the course D2L site.

SPRING SEMESTER HOLIDAYS
Martin Luther King, Jr.’s Birthday 01/19/2015
Spring Vacation 03/07
Martin Luther King, Jr.’s Birthday 01/19/2015

WITHDRAWAL POLICY – Undergraduate only
Students who officially register for a session may not withdraw merely by the stopping of attendance. An official withdrawal form needs to be initiated by the student and processed by the University. For the proper procedures to follow when dropping courses and when withdrawing from the University, please visit http://registrar.siu.edu/pdf/vgradcatalog1314.pdf

INCOMPLETE POLICY – Undergraduate only
An INC is assigned when, for reasons beyond their control, students engaged in passing work are unable to complete all class assignments. An INC must be changed to a completed grade within one semester following the term in which the course was taken, or graduation, whichever occurs first. Should the student fail to complete the course within the time period designated, that is, by no later than the end of the semester following the term in which the course was taken, or graduation, whichever occurs first, the incomplete will be converted to a grade of F and the grade will be computed in the student’s grade point average. For more information please visit: http://registrar.siu.edu/grades/incomplete.html

REPEAT POLICY
An undergraduate student may, for the purpose of raising a grade, enroll in a course for credit no more than two times (two total enrollments) unless otherwise noted in the course description. For students receiving a letter grade of A, B, C, D, or F, the course repetition must occur at Southern Illinois University Carbondale. Only the most recent (last) grade will be calculated in the overall GPA and count toward hours earned. See full policy at http://registrar.siu.edu/pdf/vgradcatalog1314.pdf

GRADUATE POLICIES
Graduate policies often vary from Undergraduate policies. To view the applicable policies for graduate students, please visit http://gradschool.siu.edu/about-us/grad-catalog/index.html

DISABILITY POLICY
Disability Support Services provides the required academic and programmatic support services to students with permanent and temporary disabilities. DSS provides centralized coordination and referral services. To utilize DSS services, students must come to the DSS to open cases. The process involves interviews, reviews of student-supplied documentation, and completion of Disability Accommodation Agreements.

Spring 2015 RO'Rourke
Building Emergency Response Protocols for Syllabus:

University’s Emergency Procedure Clause:

Southern Illinois University Carbondale is committed to providing a safe and healthy environment for study and work. Because some health and safety circumstances are beyond our control, we ask that you become familiar with the SIUC Emergency Response Plan and Building Emergency Response Team (BERT) program. Emergency response information is available on posters in buildings on campus, available on BERT’s website at www.bert.siu.edu, Department of Public Safety’s website www.dps.siu.edu (disaster drop down) and in the Emergency Response Guideline pamphlet. Know how to respond to each type of emergency.

Instructors will provide guidance and direction to students in the classroom in the event of an emergency affecting your location. It is important that you follow these instructions and stay with your instructor during an evacuation or sheltering emergency. The Building Emergency Response Team will provide assistance to your instructor in evacuating the building or sheltering within the facility.

Students With a Disability:

Instructors and students in the class will work together as a team to assist students with a disability safely out of the building. Students with a disability will stay with the instructor and communicate with the instructor what is the safest way to assist them.

Tornado:

During the spring semester we have a Storm Drill.

Pick up your belongings and your instructor will lead you to a safe area of the basement. No one will be allowed to stay upstairs. Stay away from windows. The drill should not last more than 10 minutes. You must stay with your instructor so he/she can take roll. Students need to be quiet in the basement as the BERT members are listening to emergency instructions on handheld radios and cannot hear well in the basement.

Fire:

During the fall semester we have a Fire Drill.

Pick up your belongings and your instructor will lead you to either the North or South parking lot depending on what part of the building your class is in. You must stay with your instructor so he/she can take roll. As soon as the building is all clear, you will be allowed to return to class.

These drills are to train instructors and the Building Emergency Response Team to get everyone to a safe place during an emergency.

Bomb Threat:

If someone calls in a bomb threat, class will be suspended and students will be asked to pick up their belongings, evacuate the building and leave the premises. Do not leave anything that is yours behind. We will not allow anyone back into the building until the police and bomb squad give us an all clear. DO NOT USE YOUR CELL PHONES. Some bombs are triggered by a cell phone signal.
Shooter in the Building:

If it is safe to leave, move to a safe area far from the building away from where the shooter is located. If anyone has any information about the shooter, please contact the police after they have gone someplace safe.

If it is not safe to leave, go into a room, lock the door and turn out the lights. Everyone should spread out and not huddle together as a group. Don't stand in front of the door or in line of fire with the door. Students' chairs and desks should be piled in front of the glass and door as a barricade and the teacher's desk, podium and anything movable can be pushed against the door. This is intended to slow down any attempts to enter the classroom. If it looks like the shooter is persistent and able to enter, make a lot of noise and have the students use everything in their backpacks to throw at the shooter to distract him.

Silence all cell phones after one person in the room calls the police and informs them of their location and how many people are in the room. Be quiet and wait for the police to arrive. The police are looking for one or more shooters, and they have no way of knowing if the shooter is in the room people are hiding in. For this reason, when the police enter the room, no one should have anything in his/her hands and each person MUST raise his/her hands above his/her head.

Earthquake:

In the event of an earthquake, you are advised to take cover quickly under heavy furniture or crouch near an interior wall or corner and cover your head to avoid falling debris. Outside the building are trees and power lines and debris from the building itself that you will need to stay away from. In the building, large open areas like auditoriums are the most dangerous. Do not try to escape on a stairway or elevator. Do not hide under a stairway. We do not recommend that you stand in a doorway because the door could shut from the vibrations and crush your fingers trapping you there.

Rave Mobile Safety Alert System:

We recommend that you sign up for the Rave Mobile Safety Alert System. It is a new system that replaces the WENS system to alert you through emergency text messages on your cell phone and emails for emergencies on campus, weather reports and emergency school closures. You have to sign up. If you were signed up for WENS it does not roll over. You have to sign up for Rave Mobile Safety Alert System. Go to Saluki Net, go to my records tab, under SIUC Personal Records, click on View My SIUC Student Records, Under Main Menu click on Personal Information, click on View and Update Addresses and Phones, in the middle of the page click [Update Addresses and Phones], under phones click Primary. This will take you to Update Addresses and Phones – Update/Insert, under primary phone number for this address put in your cell phone and submit. For more information, visit dps.siu.edu, contact SalukiTech at 453-5155 or salukitech@siu.edu.

CPR/Defibrillator and First Aid Class:

If you would like to take a CPR/Defibrillator and/or First Aid class, contact LaVon Donley-Cornett, lavong@siu.edu or call 453-7473.

Women's Self Defense Classes are offered to female students faculty and staff by the Department of SIU Public Safety. For more information contact Officer Mary Stark marys@dps.siu.edu.
