Section 1 Tues/Thurs 9:35–10:50 in Wham 302  Instructor: Dr. Sara Beardsworth
Section 2 Mon/Weds/Fri 1–1:50 in Comm 1018  Instructor: TBA

ELECTIVES: (12 hours total; see website)

Civil Liberties and Civil Rights (POLS 332I–Section 950, online) Instructor: TBA. This course deals with civil liberties and civil rights in the United States and how the United States Supreme Court has interpreted and applied these rights over time. Specifically, our focus will be on the First Amendment, the Right to Privacy, Discrimination, and Voting Rights. We will also address how social, economic, and political forces have shaped the evolution and nature of these protections.

Communication Across Cultures (University Core Curriculum, SPCM 301I, Sections 001–005; see catalog)
This course provides an introduction to communication between/among people from different cultures, focusing on the application of intercultural communication theory and research. Class assignments and exercises examine everyday encounters with individuals from different races, ethnicity, religions, gender, ages, sexual orientations and physical abilities. Credit cannot be earned in both SPCM 301I and SPCM 341.

Compassionate Communication (SPCM 464, Section 001)
Tues/Thurs 2–3:15 in Comm 102
Instructor: Dr. Suzanne Daughton
Study and practical training in Nonviolent Communication and similar approaches to more effective inter- and intrapersonal communication. Using real-life experiences from political encounters and interpersonal conflicts to inner dialogue, this class offers a way to deepen peaceful connection and understanding with ourselves and others through honesty, empathy, and being "fully present" in the moment. (Consent of instructor required)

Crisis and Conflict Reporting (JRNL 419, Section 001)
Mondays 3–5:30 in Comm 1213
Instructor: Dr. Peter Lemish
Since conflicts are involved in nearly every news story, especially all manner of crisis, we pursue the ways in which reporting must relate to all dimensions of the conflict process. We will study accounts of journalistic efforts during crises by reporters, photojournalists, editors, and residents; and, we will work in the field to continue telling stories of conflicts and natural disasters. (Must have Junior standing or above to register; students from outside the department who have not taken JRNL 311 can ask their advisors to override prerequisite)

Internship in History (HIST 496A–001)
Instructor: Dr. Natasha Zaretsky
Supervised field work in public or private agencies or operation where history majors are frequently employed, such as archives and libraries, government offices, communications media, historic sites, and museums. Only three hours may be applied to the major and six hours toward the M.A. degree. (Special approval needed from the instructor.)

Language, Gender and Power (WGSS 320I/LING320I, Sections 001–006; see catalog)
This course looks at language practices and men and women from different cultures in terms of how speech reflects and shapes their social identities.
Perspectives from the fields of linguistics, anthropology, psychology, sociology and speech communication will be used.

Social Movements and Collective Behavior (SOC 424, Section 001)

Mon/Weds 12–1:15 in Quigley 201
Instructor: Dr. Jean–Pierre Reed

An analysis of social behavior in non–institutional settings such as crowds, disasters, riots, mass panics, crazes, cults, and social movements. Emphasis is on the cultural and structural factors leading to collective action and its impact on social change.
